

How do inpatients seek for combination care of Chinese and western medicine?

住院病人如何尋求中西醫合併照護？(英文)

The purpose of our hospital is to combine Chinese and western medicine, and to offer patients with high quality medical service. If you have consulted western medical treatment, we still offer Chinese medicine consultations. Combination of Chinese and western medicine helps make you recovering quickly from hospitalization.

When to inquire assistances of Chinese medicine ?

1. When you desire to request treatment of Chinese medicine
2. When you are too weak to receive further western medical treatment, especially with chronic disease and repeatedly going in and out of the hospital.
3. When you want to regulate your health condition before and after a surgical operation.
4. When you are dealing with chemotherapy and radiotherapy.
5. When you suffer from functional disorders like poor digestion, abdominal fullness, poor appetite, infrequent defecation, unsmooth urination, facing edema, and insomnia.
6. When you suffer from neuro-muscular imbalance after having operation for intracerebral hemorrhage, embolism, or brain surgery. Combining Chinese internal medicine and acupuncture could help you recover quickly, and release pressure.

7. When you have recurrent high fever and western medicine doesn't seem to help.
8. When you suffer from bedsores caused by long-term horizontal bedridden, diabetic foot, and other wounds with poor slow healing. Remember that combination of Chinese traumatology and Chinese herbs makes healing process easily and improve life quality.
9. When you are about to be in labor, our hospital provides Chinese medicine gynecology department for "post-partum body adjustment" service like Chinese medicine food therapy.
10. When you encounter any discomfort during your pregnancy such as fetal irritability, hyperemesis, and gestational edema.
11. Whenever there is a health condition requiring assistances of Chinese physicians for evaluation.

How can I consult Chinese medicine doctors ?

If you desire the opinion or consultation from our Chinese medicine physicians, all you need to do is to make a request to your attending nurse, resident, or attending staff; and our staff will arrange an appointment or pay a visit to your ward to evaluate your condition and provide therapy immediately.

What else do I need to understand?

1. Chinese medicine physician will discuss with your attending staff to make a best therapy plan.
2. You can stop consultation without any reasons.
3. National Health Insurance Bureau does not cover your consultation fee at our department, so you need to cover it yourself.
4. For your rights, we cannot arrange any Chinese medial therapy until you have signed the payment consent form.
